

FRESH FROM THE LABORATORY

Steak au poivre

A succulent steak fillet, genetically impregnated with a mad cow reducing factor.

Lightly cooked and subtly manipulated with a special insect virus gene, to produce its own delicious creamy peppercorn sauce.

This dish comes with a side order of last year's vegetables, genetically interfered with so they taste just like they're freshly picked from the garden.

SAY NO TO GENETICALLY MODIFIED FOODS

